

Gina Ebersole is a strategic Human Resources leader and Prosci Certified Change Practitioner with 20 years' experience leading large-scale change initiatives and coaching leaders through these changes. She believes that coaching is critical to driving self-awareness and growth as a leader. As a coach, Gina's approach is about collaboration, goal setting, and accountability. She is passionate about leveraging the power of new ways of working to enhance results. She coaches employees and leaders at all levels.

Gina has experience in Human Resources, Finance, Investment Management and Operations, Global Risk & Security, International investments, and most recently Healthcare. Her specific expertise is in strategy development, program and change management, leadership development, business and fiscal planning, and applying Lean and Agile methodologies to new ways of working.

Gina has a coaching certificate from the Teleos Leadership Institute and is in the process of obtaining a certification from the International Coaching Federation (ICF). She also holds a M.S. in Organizational Development and Leadership from Saint Joseph's University, and a B.A. in Organizational Communication from Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania.